

THURSDAY
Tombstone: View By Wandering Candidate

Billy Delbridge, who is seeking the democratic nomination for county treasurer; on a recent visit to Tombstone, wrote the following to the Bisbee Ore:

"Dad" Ray took us into his private car at Fairbanks and we had the privilege of reclining in his well cushioned chair and enjoying the scenery. The rest of the bunch had to sit on cracker boxes.

Tombstone, the historic old town, around which cluster so many interesting memories of Arizona's pioneer and their deathly grapple with the desert, to gather the hidden treasure locked in nature's vaults, after years of trancelike inactivity, is again about to come alive and pour her golden stream of wealth into the commercial activities of the state.

"It will require some years to open up and develop the mineral resources of this great district and the process must necessarily be slow, but we are sure the wealth is there, sure that brainy men, with ample means, have at last taken a firm hold in the district. That alone gives the community a feeling of security that will have a wonderful effect in bringing Tombstone back to her old time activity, but along broad lines and upon a higher plane of commercial life. Investors from all parts of the country, old time claim owners are now dropping in every day on the trains to resume attention to the camp.

"When the mysterious electric current traveling from 100 miles distant over a high tension power line shall be stretched over Cochise county and the musical clinkety-clink of electric pumps begins to pour the underground river out over the valleys miles away, then will Tombstone begin to realize what her future is to be. And soon after we shall see Bisbee reaching out to Douglas on one hand and Tombstone on the other with an electric road and hear her say, 'You had better come over to the opera some evening. You can return on the 12 o'clock car.' Some swell.

"A great market this will become in time, and, after awhile, Cochise farmers will find they can arrange to ship their produce to Bisbee, Douglas and Tombstone as cheaply as can the farmers of Phoenix and California points. (Cochise county farmers please take notice.) Cattlemen will learn that stock can be fattened and marketed at home as well as from other states.

"Many interesting 'old timers' are here who are loyal and optimistic as ever.

"Col. Wentworth looks like a boy with his freshly shaven face, closely cropped hair and his polished golden molars gleaming when he smiles.

"George Bravin feels as though he could lick Jack Johnson, but, of course, would not get out and train.

"Young Bill Hattich has been superseded by a couple of 'old stiffs,' who are called the 'Gragg Bros.' Thinking of a 'hooey' for the office already.

"The ladies are keenly appreciative of their new born privilege and are enjoying the homage paid to them by the erstwhile 'superior' politicians.

"And they do say it might have a rejuvenating effect on the 'old court house,' to have a real homey face and a head covered with real hair, (out curly, to please the ladies), to replace the classic features and polished dome of the genial 'Charlie' who is retiring from the treasurer's office."

WEDNESDAY

Judge Sawtelle
Returns From Coast

A Tucson dispatch says:—
Federal Judge Sawtelle arrived last night from California and will remain in Tucson attending to official business until the second Monday in September when he will go to Phoenix to hold the fall term of the federal court.

Judge Sawtelle sat with Judge Morrow and Van Fleet in San Francisco in the case of Van Dyke against the Corporation Commission and then went to Lake Tahoe, where he spent ten days.

Returning to San Francisco he left his son, James Sawtelle, at Palo Alto where he will take the classical course at Stanford university.

Judge Sawtelle found a mass of work piled up for him at Tucson. He will attempt to dispose of this before entering on the fall term of court at Tucson, Phoenix, Globe and Prescott.

THURSDAY
Smelters Will
Again Take Ore

Following the announcement that the smelters at El Paso would again take custom ore for treatment, received here yesterday, the Bisbee Ore of yesterday has the following to say:

"Good news for hundreds of men in Cochise county came today with announcement by the El Paso smelter that they would resume taking shipments of silver-gold-lead ore.

The news was given directly to leaders on the Tombstone Con. properties of the Copper Queen at Tombstone. It was communicated to them from this city this morning.

"It is learned from J. N. Gaines, now in the city from Tombstone, that there were about 50 leases operating on the Tombstone Con. grounds before the closing of El Paso smelter to shipments.

"Gaines said this noon that the news would bring great rejoicing to Tombstone and immediately put new life in that camp. There is no doubt that among the unemployed now here there will be lease sought at once on Tombstone Consolidated and that some of these will find opportunities to go to work there for themselves. The leases operating on Tombstone Con. the last couple of years have, with hardly an exception, made good money. There is much of the ground that is inviting and that is yet open to leasing.

"Beside the effect at Tombstone, the re-opening of El Paso smelter to shipments will doubtless mean the resumption of activities in mining of silver, lead and gold ores in many other localities in the county where there are leasing and small mining enterprises under way, some of which in the Johnson, Pearce and other districts were obliged to shut down when El Paso smelter cut out receipts. There are also properties in the Warren district which will be effected, chiefly those of lessees.

FRIDAY

New Postmaster

THURSDAY

Will Enter Stutz
In Road Race

A Phoenix dispatch says:—
Earl Cooper will enter his private Stutz speedster in the El Paso to Phoenix road race this year.

MONDAY

Can They Break
Oldfield's Record?

Can they do it? That is the question. Barney Oldfield made it in 48 seconds in his magnificent high power "Christy." The "Christy" could have gone much faster. It was only a question of whether it could have stayed on the ground and negotiated the turns. It was simply a question of how close to death it could go, and escape.

Barney established a track record on the State Fair Grounds track, of 48 seconds, and the motorcycle boys assert that they will lower it two seconds at the Arizona State Fair this year.

MONDAY

San Pedro River
Overflows Banks

Mr. R. F. Marvin, of the United General Agency at St. David, in a communication with the Prospector, writes the following regarding the recent heavy rains in that section and the flood and damage resulting therefrom:—

"Monday night, August 17th, the flood washed out the S. P. railroad bridge which crossed the river below Fairbank, with the result that our mails were delayed several days. The San Pedro overflowed its banks, doing considerable damage to the rip rap work under the county bridge at Marous. Friday night, August 21st, the water in the river reached the highest point in fifteen years."

TUESDAY
Arizona Marble
Beautifies Bank

A Tucson dispatch says:—
"The First National bank of Los Angeles, in which $250,000 worth of Arizona marble was used, was the handiwork of the building that I saw in the town," said Sidney F. Masbarr, chief draughtsman in the city engineer's office, who just returned from a week's stay on the coast. "The marble came from the quarries of the Arizona Marble company, near Bowie."

"Both the exterior and interior are so decorated. It was built two years or so ago."

"The panels of the interior are beautifully matched."

WEDNESDAY

Try to Destroy
S. P. Passenger

A Tucson dispatch says:—
No clue as to the persons who placed a thousand pounds of malapais on the Southern Pacific tracks near Jaynes station last Thursday has been secured. Coming as it did so soon after the attempt of two boys to wreck a train by placing ties on the tracks, and by breaking switches and signal lights, it has caused an especially vigilant patrol of that section to be instituted by the railroad officials.

The malapais, consisting of 250 round boulders and smaller pieces, was placed at the end of the Billito bridge. Freight No. 244 struck it while going 30 miles an hour. Had a passenger train been the first along, there would have been a serious wreck. A passenger which makes good time at that point, would certainly have left the bridge.

As it was the pilot and other parts of the locomotive were demolished and the six couplings of more than a dozen cars were broken. The rocks were thrown a distance of 75 feet.

The boys who placed the ties on the track were sent to the reform school. They did the mischief while returning from a dance at Cortaro. The embankment is ripped up at that point with the malapais.

WEDNESDAY

Phoenix Man
Is Inventor

A Phoenix dispatch says:—
Martin Mohrdisch, machinist and automobile man, has just patented a combined cash drawer and register that is expected to be of great service in retail stores, as it combines a burglar-proof, sneak thief proof, iron receptacle with a complete sales record.

The principle is said to be entirely new and to obviate many of the imperfections inherent in all other cash and sales registering devices, while at the same time the register can be sold at a reasonable price.

The basic principle is the carrying of a paper roll which advances one line automatically every time the cash drawer is opened. On the blank thus provided the amount of the sale or other data, such as a charge or a receipt or a memorandum, that the drawer was opened to make change, is noted by the salesman. In this way, when the bookkeeper or proprietor takes out the roll at night he can see just how often the drawer has been opened and an unfiled blank will attract immediate attention.

The drawer is also fitted with a cheap but highly efficient combination lock which can be changed as often as desired, and with little time or trouble. The entire machine is also burglar proof, being made of solid steel, and seems to fill every requirement of safety, accuracy and economy. The register will soon be on the market and large sales are expected.

Hernandez Fined $10

Charged with beating up Floyd Bell, a negro deaf and dumb boy, Luis Hernandez was fined $10 in police court at Tucson. Hernandez is charged with having pounded Bell over the head with a shine brush and foundmaster Wright arrested him. The lad is employed as a porter by the Arizona Historical society and is thought to be "doomed." He has been deaf and dumb ever since he was struck with a baseball in early life.

WHAT WILL CURE
MY BACK?

Common sense will do more to cure backache than anything else. Tell me just what your kidneys are doing, swollen and aching. It will tell you in that case that there is no use trying to cure it with a plaster. If the passages are scant or too frequent, proof that there is kidney trouble is complete. Then common sense will tell you to use Doan's Kidney Pills, the best recommended special kidney remedy.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY

Geo. H. Sharp, 511 Main St., Winnetka, Conn., says: "My kidneys were in bad shape and I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions. My back ached all the time and my health was badly run down. I doctored and used different remedies but to no avail. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the first box helped me. I kept on taking them and I soon got well. I now feel better in every way and my back and kidneys are in good shape."
